

Media Coverage

Publication	Date	Edition	Link	Headline
Bpositive now	13 Aug 2021	Online	https://christmasland.bpositivenow.com/free-immunization-likely-to-revive-economy-provide-stable-work-opportunities-says-report/	Free immunization likely to revive economy, provide stable work opportunities, says report addition, the report states that this will help provide them with a secure work ecosystem where the influx of work opportunities is steady. The free vaccination campaign launched by the government is likely to have a positive impact on the job market and the overall economy as most of the respondents believed that it would provide them a safe work ecosystem with stable work opportunities to their employees. will help to do so. a report.

According to a report by human resource solutions provider Genius Consultants, more than 87 percent of the respondents believe that free vaccination campaigns can prevent a second reverse migration for these workers as they too would be eligible to receive the vaccine.

To read more click on the link